

SUPERVISORS ENDORSE PLAN OF EAST SIDE HIGHWAY AND BRIDGE

Ask That Joint Highway District With S. F. County be Formed. Bridge in Vicinity of Dumbarton.

A resolution passed by unanimous vote at the supervisors' meeting at Redwood City Monday placed the stamp of approval on the proposition to form a highway district for the purpose of constructing an east side highway and a transbay bridge. The board is thus approving the findings of the committee, consisting of County Surveyor George A. Kneese, District Attorney Franklin Swart, Supervisor John MacBain and several San Francisco supervisors, who recently recommended the formation of this highway district to handle the Dumbarton bridge and the east side highway as one project. The San Francisco supervisors have already endorsed the project.

The resolution does not locate the bridge exactly, but merely places it in the vicinity of the Dumbarton railroad bridge, specifically stating it being expressly understood that the particular location of said bridge across the bay shall depend upon what is most feasible, practical and economical. The proper location

CHAUTAUQUA OPENS APRIL 29 WITH A MATHER HILBURN

The word "entertainer" is sorely overworked in describing the platform entertainments of many character impersonators, but A. Mather Hilburn, who comes to Chautauqua on the opening night, April 29, is one who richly deserves the full use of the word. Mr. Hilburn's program is largely humorous, for he believes in the gospel of laughter, yet his heavier selections are of such a nature that he has been fitted called "The Sol Smith Russell of the Chautauquas." The secret of Mr. Hilburn's success, some critics have aptly said, is that he considers his audiences are simply human beings and endeavors to present such selections as re-bloated folks enjoy and admire.

The meteoric rise of Mather Hilburn in the field of entertainment is his own best evidence of the possession of ability. Abraham Lincoln said that you can fool all the people some of the time, and some of the people all the time, but can't fool all the people all the time. Mr. Hilburn has been entertaining now for a number of years and the fact that he has been invited back to the same old places over and over again is the indisputable evidence that he "delivers the goods." Reports of his work are always enthusiastic. He either "makes good" universally or Lincoln was mistaken and he is "fooling all the people all the time," for there is never adverse criticism of his work.

P. R. THOMPSON SAYS THAT BRIDGE SHOULD BE LOCATED AT DUMBARTON

Cost Will Be Considerable Less and it Would Prove to More Advantage. Has Most Hearty Support.

The Hon. P. R. Thompson of the executive committee of the Civic League and Improvement Clubs of San Francisco has prepared the following statement of why the bridge across the bay should be built at Dumbarton:

It is the only point on the bay that the government has approved an overhead bridge.

It is the narrowest point of the bay on the peninsula. (It is about 4 times less distance than the proposed bridge at Coyote Point near San Mateo.)

Its cost (approximately $1,500,000) is many times less than any proposed bridge. (The approximate cost of the Coyote Point bridge both county engineers state would be $20,000,000.)

It is beyond the Redwood harbor and the possible future development of harbor facilities on the lower bay to accommodate ocean going vessels.

It will serve the entire county of San Mateo.

It is consistent with the policy of San Mateo as the entire peninsula is now supporting a bill in congress, which has passed the house, providing for the dredging of the bay between San Mateo and South San Francisco to make possible future harbor development to serve ocean going vessels. (The bridge from Coyote Point would interfere with navigation of Redwood harbor and the lower bay and it has not, nor is it believed it would be, approved by the federal government.)

It is practical, feasible and is quick of accomplishment—it is the one short step necessary to relieve congestion down the peninsula and open up a natural route to the interior at a comparatively infinitesimal cost.

The official engineers of both of the counties selected this location.

These are obviously the reasons the Southern Pacific Company built its railroad bridge at Dumbarton Point.

In 1916 the following organizations supported the Dumbarton bridge project:

San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, Redwood City Chamber of Commerce, California State Automobile Association, Contra Costa Chamber of Commerce, Palo Alto Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trustees of Daly City, San Francisco Realty Board, Board of Supervisors of San Mateo county, San Mateo Chamber of Commerce, Civic League of Improvement Clubs of San Francisco, Downtown Association of San Francisco, Niles Chamber of Commerce, Newark Chamber of Commerce, South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trustees of Redwood City, Board of Supervisors of San Francisco, Burlingame City Trustees, Auto Dealers' Association of San Francisco.

The prohibition of expenditures for such work during the war resulted in suspension of the activities of the organizations.

During July, 1921, the Peninsula Bureau of Chambers of Commerce and Civic Associations was organized with the building of the Dumbarton bridge as one of its principal objectives. This body was made up of the following organizations: Burlingame Terrace Improvement Club, Federation of Women's Clubs of San Mateo County, Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce.

Alleging that there had been some irregularities going on in San Mateo county in regard to the bridge project, the president of the Peninsula Bureau of Chambers of Commerce issued a call this week for a meeting of the bureau to be held in the city hall at San Mateo on next Monday, April 24.

GEO. W. McNULTY NEW MAYOR HENRY BEEGER INSTALLED TRUSTEE

Standing Committees for Next Two Years Appointed. J. H. P. Dykes Health Officer.

The city council was reorganized last Monday night with the seating of the two newly elected trustees, Mark E. Ryan and Henry Beeger, and the electing of George W. McNulty mayor of Redwood City in the place of former Mayor Mark E. Ryan, who had signified his desire not to be a candidate for the position this term.

Mayor McNulty has been a member of the board since 1916. Throughout his entire term he has acted as chairman of the finance committee and his record in that capacity is one which his many friends are wont to point to as a credit not only to himself but to Redwood City as well.

During the growth of this city his interests have been identified with it to the fullest extent he being a member of the Fox-McNulty Lumber Company.

Immediately following the retirement of the old board and the reorganization of the new one, the board took up the matter of the appointment of a health officer to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Dr. J. E. Chapin.

On motion of Trustee Tuchen, seconded by Trustee Mabie, Dr. J. H. P. Dykes was appointed to the position of health officer. And he was authorized to purchase the laboratory equipment belonging to Dr. Chapin.

The question of rearranging the desks and chairs of the council so as to eliminate the present situation of several of the members of the board sitting with their backs to the audience. After some discussion the arrangement was left in the hands of City Clerk Price.

Much discussion was indulged in by the board over the condition the city now finds itself in as a result of the recent deflation of the plan to buy the city water works. The general consensus of opinion seemed to be that the water rates would be raised and that the railroad commission would have to be called in to straighten things out. After prolonged discussion the question was dropped, no one having a feasible plan for solving the problem which the city is said to be now facing.

JOHN J. O'BRIEN WEDS PRETTY NURSE

One of the most happy weddings occurring at Redwood City took place last Sunday evening at the Church of the Nativity, Menlo Park, when Miss Anne Bruning and John J. O'Brien were united in marriage by the Rev. Frank Ahern of St. Patrick's Seminary. The attendants were Miss Thel Carrows, bridesmaid, and Frank Carter of San Francisco, the rostrumman.

Following the wedding at 6:30 the bride and groom and their friends repaired to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brien, Menlo Park, where refreshments were served, after which the young couple departed south on their honeymoon, taking the Lark for Los Angeles. Upon their return next week they will make their residence at the corner of Bryant street and Addison avenue, Palo Alto, where they will be at home to their friends.

The bride has been a member of a nursing staff at the base hospital for the last two years. Her home at St. Cloud, Minn. She spent two years overseas. The groom has been secretary of the Knights of Columbus but at the hospital for the past three years. Both have many well wishers in their new venture.

Local News Items

On April 27, 28 and 29 Misses Hazel and Mildred Lamb will appear at the Hippodrome Theater in San Jose in their specialty act, but quite different from their last one.

The balmy weather of the past few days has lured all the wealthy suburban residents from the city. As a consequence houses here are not to be had at any price, chauffeurs and other employees have rented any vacant building that there was. Many have sought quarters at local hotels and many more have gone to Palo Alto.

The second installment of the county taxes will be delinquent on Monday, April 24. County Tax Collector A. Mcweeney's office will be open until 6 p. m. Monday for convenience of the public.

County Engineer Geo. A. Kneese and Dr. J. C. McGovern of South San Francisco were in Halfmoon Bay last Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. Alvin S. Hatch and looking over property interests at Hatch Mills summer camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Porter were here from Kern county last Saturday and Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. Archer Kincaid. Mr. Porter, who was formerly deputy county surveyor of San Mateo county, is now engaged in engineering work for a large oil company.

The county has had a force of men at work this week on the highway which runs through this municipality. They have filled in the big ridges and rolls made by the heavy trucks which daily haul produce and dairy supplies to San Francisco. These trucks pay practically no license fee, yet they are allowed to compete with the railroad company which has to maintain its own right of way. It is high time for the people to rise up and demand that motor vehicles which compete with the railroads should own and maintain their own roads. There is no reason why the taxpayers should maintain boulevards for motor truck companies.

Otis M. Carrington underwent an operation for the removal of his tonsils at the Palo Alto Hospital Monday and has been confined to his home since then. Mr. Carrington, whose duties as supervisor of music in the rural schools of the county require him to use his singing voice daily, has been bothered with throat trouble for several months past and hopes that the operation will soon put him back into good singing condition.

Louis Werder was very ill at his home on Hamilton street. Mr. Werder, who is a civil war veteran, has always been hale and hearty and because of his great recuperative powers it is hoped that he will soon be about again.

HIGH SCHOOL BOARD ORGANIZED AT PESCADERO

The board of education of the newly formed Pescadero Union High School was organized at 1 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon at Pescadero by County Superintendent of Schools Roy W. Cloud. The meeting was held in the office of C. J. Williamson. The board consists of Mr. Williamson and Carl J. Coburn, who will serve for three years; Mrs. Robert Silva and Egbert R. Pinkham, who will hold for two years, and Asa T. Weeks, who will fill the one year term.

J. C. Williamson was elected president and Carl Coburn was elected clerk. The board examined property where the school might be held and decided to rent the McCormick Hall, which will be remodeled.

There will be two teachers engaged to run the school the first year and it is expected there will be about 22 pupils in attendance. It is the hope of the trustees that a first class agricultural high school may be developed in Pescadero.

OLD COUPLE WILL VISIT EUROPE IN MAY

Mr. and Mrs. John Meyn, residents of Malmfoen Bay and the coast region for the past 50 years, will visit Europe in May, according to a statement made by Meyn while here settling up business this week. The couple plan to sail from New York on the Berengaria May 30 for an extended trip throughout Europe and to see relatives.

Meyn is said to have been the first agent on the coast for Henry Ford and has sold hundreds of cars. For many years he worked the old Butta ranch in the coast region. Later he bought a ranch of his own, which he is said recently to have sold for more than $40,000.

RETURNS HOME FROM ARMY

Frank Thompson, last of the world war veterans to return to Redwood City, arrived home last Friday from Philadelphia, where he has been in business since his discharge from the army.

He was accompanied by his bride, formerly Miss Mary Miller of Philadelphia. The couple expect to make their home here, where Thompson will join his father, E. Ted Thompson, in the tinsorial business.

Young Thompson enlisted early in 1917 and was stationed first at San Pedro and later at the Philadelphia navy yard. He later purchased a shop in Philadelphia which he sold recently to return to his home here. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are living at 145 Beach street.

Mrs. Moya, a member of a well known pioneer family of California, had made her home in Hollister for the past several years. She was a daughter of A. Ramos, one of the first settlers of the Santa Clara valley, whose home now is in Mayfield.

Besides her husband, Joseph Moya, she leaves the following nieces and nephews: Mrs. Florence Semich, Miss Mary Diaz, Leon and Charles Diaz of San Jose; Louise Diaz, San Mateo; Lella and Virginia Fluger of Mexico City and Mrs. Mercedes Poyntz of New York.

ITS "CLEANUP WEEK" CITY DONS NEW GARB

Redwood City may justly lay claim to the title of "Spotless Town" if the promise of "cleanup week" continues, as evidenced by its beginning yesterday.

Merchants, business and social organizations, with home owners and tenants made up an array of civic housecleaners who reported promptly for the business of making the city free of weeds, rubbish and all objectionable sights. The drive will continue until next Wednesday.

The movement, initiated by the chamber of commerce and being joined in by the Boy Scouts, the Redwood City Woman's Club, the city trustees and all those interested in a bright, clean, forward looking city, is to be supported to the utmost, according to activities so far in evidence.

Circulars issued by Secretary-Manager Smith of the chamber are calling attention to the need for the cleanup. San Francisco and northern California will entertain during the present year the largest number of visitors for many seasons past. California will possess this year a positive and definite asset in the matter of attracting the prospective settler, home owner and investor.

BROADWAY PROPERTY BRINGS $400 A FRONT FOOT

Mark A. McCann, San Francisco real estate broker, sold in the last week the southwest corner of Broadway and Hamilton street for $15,000 cash for the account of Ellen McElowney and Patrick J. Foley, the purchaser being J. C. Brickell of San Francisco. It is reported that this corner will be improved at once with a new two-story building.

Mr. McCann also reports having sold the former home of E. M. Breckenridge, which is located in the Fair Oaks Acres tract near Atherton, for the account of the Franklin Company, the purchaser being Charles D. Flaney of Saratoga. Price paid was $9,000. He also reports a very active market in unimproved lots and acreage in the Atherton and Menlo Park districts in the past two weeks, many of the parcels sold are to be improved with homes in the very near future.

FORMER CAMP FREMONT BOY ALLEGED FORGER

A government check for $42.50, which he cashed last September, has been revealed as a forgery to George Peterson, well known jeweler of this city, according to a letter from the United States treasury department received by Peterson here last week.

The check, made payable to Alexander J. McNab, banker of Pacific Grove, was cashed by Peterson when presented by a young man, said to have been known locally and identified as McNab.

Investigations of the government agents revealed that the young man who presented the check here forged the signature of McNab. It is reported. The alleged forger was formerly stationed at Camp Fremont and later at the Presidio in San Francisco, it is said. He is being sought by officers who were supplied with photographic copies of the check by Peterson.

DUMBARTON BRIDGE

There was an enthusiastic meeting and much talking up in San Mateo last Tuesday night. The Three Cities Chamber of Commerce and the One Hundred Per Cent Club of San Francisco held a powwow on the question of bridging the bay. But nothing was done. There was much talk up in San Francisco a short time ago over a bridge to Oakland.
But nothing was done.

The San Mateo county supervisors and the chambers of commerce of every municipality on the peninsula, save San Mateo, and a majority of the San Francisco board of supervisors have gotten together and have completed general plans for the erection of a bridge at Dumbarton, near Cooley's landing. The peninsula is back of this bridge and the east side highway that goes with it, and the thinking people of San Francisco have expressed themselves as back of the movement.
The bay will be bridged in the near future if there is not too much talk and dissension scattered abroad in the land. A friend of the movement is not one who wants to "hog" all the good out of the efforts of his neighbors for himself or his community. Nor is he one who deliberately confuses everything and creation dissension with much talk.

It was Benjamin Franklin who made the famous statement when the American union was about to be formed that, "If we do not hang together we shall hang separately." The motto would be a good one for the peninsula. We might add an another sentence to it and it would be still better. Let us hang the trouble makers, those who have axes to grind, and those who love to engage in much talk.

It is good to know that the peninsula as a whole, the San Mateo and San Francisco supervisors and the engineers of San Mateo and of San Francisco counties are back of the Dumbarton bridge and have declared it feasible, the most feasible at the present time on the bay. The peninsula and San Francisco will come into their own when the Dumbarton bridge is built.

GOVERNOR W. D. STEPHENS

We are for Governor Stephens first, last and all the time. There is no if or about our position. We believe when a man has made good in every respect he is a valuable asset to any institution. The business of running a state government is a mighty big proposition. And Governor Stephens has made good on the job.
To begin with he had a powerfully big job on his hands, as he had to take over the work of one of the biggest governors any state ever had. It wasn't an easy thing for any man to take up Hiram Johnson's work and carry it on successfully.
Hiram Johnson instituted and carried out a great many reforms. He was a popular idol. So it was a hard task Governor Stephens had to take. He never faltered, however; once he had caught the heating of the plow, he went right on.
Governor Stephens has not struck to influence. He has done what he thought was right. If he felt that a labor leader should remain in prison, no influence could change him. If he felt that certain tax bills should be passed, no corporate influence could make him recede from his position.

Governor Stephens has made fine appointments whenever there have been vacant places on the bench. He has had the best interests of the people at heart whenever he has acted. As we said at the beginning we are for Hon. William D. Stephens for governor of the state of California first, last and all the time.

SOME IMPRESSIONS

As someone once remarked, time is mighty easy to lose. There was a bunch of fellows up on the speedway last Sunday who didn't lose any time. They were a powerful, husky rushing lot of automobile drivers and the way they tore around the edge of the big wooden bowl surely was a caution. They were after the prizes, to be sure, for as one fellow remarked, he wanted to bring home the bacon; but that wasn't the main thing. Every one of them wanted to win. He wanted to have the reputation of being a winner.
That was the prime consideration.
At the risk of life and limb those husky youngsters stepped on the gas and then stepped on harder until they were fairly flying, every energy, every faculty keyed to its highest point, each fellow put practically a lifetime into the hour and twenty minutes of the classic and all because he wanted to be classed as a winner.

We wish that the boys and girls of our school and the young men and young women in our shops and stores and factories could take the lesson of the race as their lesson. If they would strive to win so they could be winners, and keep their energy faculty keyed to its highest point they never could lose.

We were in court for an hour last week and heard some of the keenest lawyers in this or any other county arguing a case. The superior judge sat at his desk. He alternately wrote or read, but all of the time he was listening. Not a single word him. He would stop an attorney with a pertinent question and a kindly suggestion—not once was he petulant or impatient. At the end he gave his opinion and the attorneys for both sides seemed to be satisfied. Surely it is a wonderful thing to be a superior judge in San Mateo county.

We were talking to Henry Beecher shortly after the election and he was as jubilant over his election as if the position was to carry a salary of $500 a month. We remember when Henry used to run the town roller while he was a Stanford student and we recollect that he did his work well. We remember also that he put up into the whole baseball team like a real Texas League when he was playing baseball with the town team. Therefore we rise up to opine that he is going to give real service now that he is one of our city fathers.

We noted in the city papers that Mrs. Louis D. Mills of this city acted as judge at the exhibition of children's pets held under the direction of the San Francisco Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals at the civic auditorium yesterday. The article said that practically every sort of bird, animal, fish and reptile was represented. We are informed that Mrs. Mills is a good judge of such things. Now, if the husband of the Mills family had acted as the judge of the exhibit he would have certainly fitted him for the job. We can remember when his father, Dan Mills, had charge of the Bear Gulch Water Company in the olden days he certainly did have plenty of experience with animals and fish and reptiles in the water pipes and so must have passed on some of his knowledge to Louis.

Now wouldn't it just jar you if after going top speed at a big classic 150-mile race and after winning it and the $5,000 prize some lady with a tin snifter to a fiver should run into you right on the highway. That is what happened to Harry Harris last Sunday. At over 100 miles an hour for an hour and twenty minutes he kept his machine going. Then he headed for home and a lady on the highway bumped him and he had to be towed in. Still at that he was lucky that he wasn't bumped before the race.

A LETTER FROM THE ORIENT

The following letter from Hubert Kirkpatrick to his mother, Mrs. L. M.
Kirkpatrick of this city, will be of interest to his many friends. Mr.
Kirkpatrick is en route to Ipoh, in the province of Penang, which is 2,000 miles west of Penang, in the Malay peninsula.

On board S. S. Wanchow on route to Kobe, March 19, 1922.—Dear Mother: We are on our way again from Yokohama to Kobe. We were in Yokohama from 9:30 p. m. Friday to 9:20 a. m. Sunday. We went ashore Friday night and roamed around until about midnight. Certainly everything is strange to us.
These poor devils here sure do try to get one to ride in their rickshaws.
We would not take one the first night as we were leary as to where they might dump us. There were three of us in the party. These rickshaws men followed us around town for over two hours trying to induce us to ride. The biggest part of town has no cement or rock sidewalks.
The streets, dirt floors, are piled with junk so that you can scarcely walk around. The bigger stores, though, are a contrast. You are not allowed inside without either taking your shoes off or putting on their sandals or else slipping on a felt or cloth overshoe. The floors are polished and not a speck of dust anywhere.
We did not buy a thing. It seems as though every other store sells dishes or dried fish.

You remember about our wanting to get gold. U. S. paper money is worth more in Japan or China than gold is. You can get a premium of 1 per cent on paper while you get even exchange on gold. For seven dollars U. S. paper I got fourteen yen and fourteen sen. Had I had gold the fourteen yen is all I would have rotten.

Saturday morning we went to Tokyo. This city is four or five times the size of San Francisco but about an awful place. There are some beautiful grounds and wonderful lakes, but take the city in general, narrow streets and muddy in wet weather and dusty in dry. It was awfully dusty while we were there.
We went around the outside of the imperial grounds which are wonderful. We also went to the exposition which is just opening in Japan. The biggest ever held. They have their "sons" and all just like 1915, but surely was a caution. They were after the prizes, to be sure, for as one
main thing. Every one of them wanted to win. He wanted to have
the reputation of being a winner.

150-mile race and after winning it
and the $5,000 prize some lady with
a tin snifter to a fiver should run into you right on the highway. That is what happened to Harry Harris
last Sunday. At over 100 miles an hour for an hour and twenty minutes
he kept his machine going. Then he
highway bumped him and he had to
the race.

It is good to know that the peninsula as a whole, the San Mateo and
San Francisco supervisors and the
engineers of San Mateo and of San Francisco counties are back of the Dumbarton bridge and have declared
it feasible, the most feasible at the present time on the bay. The peninsula and San Francisco will come into their own when the Dumbarton
bridge is built.

first, last and all the time. There is
in every respect he is a valuable
of running a state government is a mighty big proposition. And Governor Stephens has made good on the job.
To begin with he had a power-
had to take over the work of one of
the biggest governors any state ever
had. It wasn't an easy thing for
work and carry it on successfully.
Hiram Johnson instituted and carried out a great many reforms. He
task Governor Stephens had to take. He never faltered, however; once he had caught the heating of the plow, he went right on.
to influence. He has done what he thought was right. If he felt that a
labor leader should remain in prison,
no influence could change him. If
could make him recede from his position.

Governor Stephens has made fine
appointments whenever there have
has had the best interests of the
people at heart whenever he has
acted. As we said at the beginning
we are for Hon. William D. Stephens for governor of the state of California first, last and all the time.

As someone once remarked, time
is mighty easy to lose. There was a bunch of fellows up on the speed-
way last Sunday who didn't lose any
time. They were a powerful, husky
rushing lot of automobile driv-
the edge of the big wooden bowl
surely was a caution. They were after the prizes, to be sure, for as one
main thing. Every one of them
wanted to win. He wanted to have
the reputation of being a winner.
That was the prime consideration.
At the risk of life and limb those
and then stepped on harder until
they were fairly flying, every energy,
every faculty keyed to its highest
point, each fellow put practically a
minutes of the classic and all because
ner.

We wish that the boys and girls of
our school and the young men and
lesson of the race as their lesson. If
could be winners, and keep their en-
point they never could lose.

LEAKE RECEIVES KINDLY TRIBUTE FROM ASSOCIATES

On retiring recently from the office of appraiser of the port of San Francisco in the government service Edward E. Leake was paid a kindly tribute by his associates. He has held the office for more than eight years. His fellow workers gave him a handsome desk of the very latest make to be used at his home in Woodland, Cal.

The presentation speech was made by D. J. O'Leary, a veteran examiner in the department and known as the orator of the appraisers' building. Mr. O'Leary was at his best on this occasion, delivering a well timed and appropriate speech setting forth the many kindnesses and courtesies extended by Mr. Leake to his associates during his incumbency. Mr. O'Leary paid a neat tribute to Mr. Leake for his fairness to those in his department. He was considerate, just and kind at all times, treating them as brothers. On behalf of his associates Mr. O'Leary wished the retiring appraiser many happy days in his Woodland home.

Mr. Leake, although almost overcome with emotion, delivered a touching farewell, saying that he would always cherish the memory of the happy associations formed during the eight years in the service. He took occasion to thank all those over whom he had had jurisdiction for their loyalty, sincerity and fairness and for the consideration always shown him during his administration. He would retire to his domicile and often would be think of his friends in the appraisers' building when writing editorial for his paper. Mr. Leake spoke very highly of his successor, Bert Kahn, saying that since retiring he had only received words of praise from the business men of San Francisco and bespoke success for his administration. Mr. Leake also spoke in praise of J. Shaen, whom he had known for thirty years, and for D. E. O'Keefe, whom he had known as a newspaper man.

Mr. Leake is a veteran member of the Democratic party, which he has faithfully served in all seasons, in many years as well as in years. He has been honored by his party on numerous occasions, but as he is now well along in years he will not doubt retire from active life full of honors and respected by all who know him and by those with whom he came in contact during his long career both as an official and as a newspaper man.

When the Democratic party came into power over eight years ago Mr. Leake was appointed appraiser without any solicitation for the office on his part. Being a wheel horse of the party he was at once selected for the position by the leaders of that party in this state. The appointment came in recognition of his ability and loyalty to the Democratic standard bearers on all occasions. This was one instance where real merit and fidelity were rewarded.

GOOD FRIDAY THOUGHTS

By Denis A. Mers
Jesus wept
To spare us tears;
To pay our debt
And through love He conquered fears.

Jesus suffered
To spare us pain;
His lot was loss,
The world was gain.

When He was nailed to the cross.
Jesus died
For us to live.
His life He gave
The world to save;

And His last thought was to forgive.

Samuel M. Shortridge, Jr., who is at Washington on legal business, writes that the climate of the capital is wretched and longs for the sunshine of the peninsula. Young Shortridge says the bill giving two federal judges to California will become a law soon. This means that Judge Graham will be appointed to the federal bench from northern California. Southern California is to get the other judgeship.

PROCEEDINGS OF SUPERVISORS

At the meeting of the supervisors Monday it was ordered that an election be held May 16 for the formation of the San Carlos sanitary district.

The Millbrae school election was called in question because of the fact that notice thereof had been published only three times. The district attorney will look into the matter further before final action is taken.

Reports of county officers and commissions were received and filed. Permission was granted so far as the county is concerned for the San Mateo Woman's Club to stretch an advertising banner across the highway to announce the Spanish fiesta to be held June 3.

The bill of the telephone company for services at the home of former Justice Lamb at Burlingame was rejected.

It was ordered that $400 be appropriated from the general fund as part of costs of repairs on the Bear Hollow bridge, the balance to be paid out of the road funds of the fifth township.

District Attorney Swart made report on the Dumbarton bridge conference, details of which appear elsewhere in this paper.

The weekly bulletin of the state board of health for April 9, 1922, contains a list of names of the fifty nurses in public health work who have been given permission by the state board to attend the public health nursing institute to be held in Berkeley July 24 to August 5. In the list we note the names of Miss Cora E. Clute, Red Cross nurse for Redwood City and vicinity, and Beulah Michels, school and health department nurse of South San Francisco.

Mr. Hurlbut has been successful in newspaper work since entering the profession and has not only made good as a reporter but has also had a number of stories published in the eastern magazines and has had two books published which were among the very good sellers. Mr. Hurlbut's father, R. P. Hurlbut, resides in San Carlos, where he is engaged as a building contractor.

Must be accepted by both county boards of supervisors. The chairman will appoint two commissioners to serve with him.

Money for the project may be obtained in two ways. The state highway commission may finance the construction of the highway and the bridge or highway district No. 2 can levy an assessment of 5 per cent of the assessed valuation of the property of the two counties comprising the district, the assessment to be paid for five consecutive years. Bonds may then be issued against the assessment and sold.
